

First name:	Surname:	What motivated you to put yourself forward for election to the Branch committee?	What qualities, skills and experience do you think you'll bring to the Branch committee?
Richard	Bonner	I enjoy helping out and I'd love to continue	Enthusiasm and PM mentoring skills
Adam	Brown	Seeking re-election to the Channel Islands committee which sits under Wessex Branch. Having been part of the CI team I am keen to continue volunteering work to see through the CI business plan.	My CI committee role is as the events lead where I bring planning a delivery of events to Jersey and Guernsey. I would like to continue this element to promote APM.
Dan	Cawley	I joined the branch last year and been involved in the project challenge and organising events for the branch. I have enjoyed the experience to date and would like to continue.	I am an open, energetic and pragmatic project professional who always strives to improve. I believe drive is infectious and will help to look into new markets and tools whilst ensuring the APMS current members are well looked after.
Dave	Corbin	Being an existing member of the committee, I am keen to support the Branches ongoing development within the region. Having a national role in the workplace, this allows me to support the PM community within the region from where I live.	I have now been on the committee for 4 years having first volunteered in May 2018 and last year as Chair. I hope that I bring leadership qualities, drive, energy & commitment to the branch. I often support the wider PM community with membership applications and guest lectures and hope to continue to do so.
Scott	Crittell	Continue to build projects as a profession and APM at the forefront of this in Guernsey	Organisational re events, contacts on Island with increasingly understood link between APM and me on the Island

Jerome	Evans	Having volunteered and taken part in numerous outreach events for Universities over the past few years, alongside my children becoming more self-sufficient; I feel I am now able to devote an increasing amount of time to the Wessex branch activities. I have also conducted a number of guest speaker seminars at universities across the region which I have found extremely rewarding. Balancing these 'external' activities with my work role, where I am responsible for the performance and engagement of Programme and Project Management across the UK and Europe, would provide a great opportunity to share stories more-widely across a broader community and continue to build connections across our PM community.	Alongside spending a considerable amount of my time developing, coaching and mentoring a current generation and community of Programme and Project Managers across my business; I have a passion for developing the next generation of Programme and Project Managers. I believe I have the ability to engage a wide variety of stakeholders, excite them about the vast possibilities and opportunities programme and project management provides, alongside practical real world experience of delivering projects and programmes across a broad domain.
Keith	Hardy	I have been working in Project Management for at least 30 years and as I reach the end of my career I wanted to give something back to an organisation that has been good to and for me.	I am a Fellow of the APM and have a breadth of skills that can be applied to the branch. I also have a long list of contacts, which is still growing, that I can call upon to obtain interesting presentations. I am keen to increase the focus on sustainability within the profession.
Eliot	Lincoln	I've been working with the committee for a few years now and want to continue.	Organisation, leadership, good local contacts, experience of running many successful projects and programmes
Paul	Marshall	Keen to give something back to the project profession, supporting the recognition and growth of the industry, especially in the Channel Islands.	Highly experienced project professional, able to provide coaching, advise and guidance. As Director: Strategy & Change for a large(ish) [50+ employees] Technology & Business Consultancy organisation I have a wide reaching network to support introduction of apprenticeships etc and can support introduction of APM qualifications and memberships.
David	Mason	I am already a committee member of the Channel Islands sub committee. I am interested in the training of fellow Project Managers and also promoting both corporate and individual membership in the Channel Islands	Local contacts, Experience in Infrastructure Project Managing, Mentoring, links with other professional organisations.

Edward	Mason-Smith	I have been deputy-chair of the APM Channel Islands committee for the last term and am looking to continue this into 2022/23. I am passionate about improving the understanding and quality of Project Management throughout the UK and Chanel Islands. I continue to believe that good Project Management, aligned to best practice, is fundamental to the success of businesses and the wider economy. The APM and the Channel Islands committee is, in my view, fundamental to improving this understanding and quality in project delivery.	I am an experienced Project and Programme manager working across both private and public sectors and have been aligned to the APM project methodology for the majority of this. I have spent the last 3 years on the APM Channel Islands sub-committee supporting events, development and meetings throughout and am looking to building on the work done to date.
Stephen	McAlister	I have supported APM for over 20 years, originally championing the work and courses throughout Lloyds TSB and more recently I have been a member of the Wessex - Channel Islands committee for the last 18 months. APM has significant value to add to the profession and this is often not recognised nor are the qualifications available to be achieved. I am very keen to ensure that the project management profession and the value we as professionals and the APM can add to businesses across all sectors is brought to the surface. In recent years APM has become more recognised but is still far behind Prince 2 in many sectors in its recognition and this needs to change. As an owner of a local consultancy firm and active practitioner I also believe project management needs greater recognition at board level and project resources need a career path they can trust.	I have been a member of the Wessex – Channel Islands committee for the last 18 months I have enjoyed supporting and taking part in the numerous activities and events that we have managed to put on during this difficult time. With Covid having a huge impact on our ability to promote APM I would very much like the opportunity to use my skills, network and interpersonal skills to best effect and promote APM throughout the year ahead. I have acted as Treasury in our local sub branch but this in practice had very little to undertake given the changes to budget management. Equally I have stood in for secretariat in monthly meetings to good effect. I am happy to support the committee and promote the APM in which ever way I can going forward.
Gemma	Parker	I am the currently a member of the APM Wessex branch and would like to continue this in 22/23.	I have been involved with the APM Wessex branch since 2017, first as a co-opted member and then an elected member. I have worked in project management for over 10 years and have an interest in continuing my professional development as well as being committed and motivated to support the local Wessex branch.

Jonathan	Perkins	I have enjoyed volunteering for the branch in 2021/22 and learning more about the APM but feel I have a lot more I would still like to achieve. Especially with the return of face-to-face events.	I am a confident speaker, enthusiastic about project management and the benefits of APM membership and have worked across many sectors in my project management career.
Nathan	Steele	I'd like to help local businesses and PM professionals through the Wessex Branch. I believe in growing the profession and raising awareness of the profession in businesses. I believe this can be done through the APM Branches.	I've worked in the Aerospace and Defence sector as a programme professional for over 9 years on major complex programmes as well as large scale M&A's. Over this period I've learned a lot from my leadership, and I'd like to pass on what I've learned through the branch to the wider P3 community. I enjoy coaching and mentoring new talent into the Project Management Profession and would like to continue to do that from within the APM Wessex branch.
Simon	Tidd	I am already a sitting committee member for the Channel Islands sub-committee and wish to continue in that role. I'm passionate about increasing awareness and education of our profession within the islands. After months of delay and planning we had our public launch event in March, attending by Adam Boddison. There is much to follow up on and I'm keen to continue the work.	I'm an experienced and senior member of the project management community in the Channel Islands. I am well connected to both others in the profession and local industry, the public sector, and politics. I'm an effective communicator and extremely organised. All of the above should benefit the Branch committee
